PRESS RELEASE

ONLY DOCTOR IN DELAWARE VALLEY OFFERING NEW ALTERNATIVE TO GUM SURGERY

Gum disease is prevalent across the nation. And less than 5% of the people who have it are willing to go through the treatment. With no cutting, no pain and no sutures, the fear of having gums restored is a thing of the past.

Dr. David DiGiallorenzo is the only periodontist in the Delaware Valley to offer the latest treatment for gum disease. Laser Periodontal Treatment, known as LANAP, is the new alternative to surgery. It's the first and only FDA approved therapy of its kind.

LANAP's unique laser technology hones in on damaged and diseased tissue, while steering clear of healthy areas. The laser cleans the area, plaque is removed, and the gums are sealed. Most patients have absolutely no pain and continue with their daily lives the same day.

Dr. DiGiallorenzo graduated from Temple University School of Dentistry in 1993. In 1995 he completed his Specialty in Periodontics and Dental Implantology from the University of Pennsylvania. He is an Associate Clinical Professor at the University of Pennsylvania, Department of Periodontics and teaches both nationally and internationally.

DiGiallorenzo's practice is a unique spa environment with a massage therapist who specializes in reflexology, reiki, massage, aromatherapy and homeopathy. This combination creates a relaxed optimal healing response. He has two offices, located in Collegeville and Williamsport, PA.
